TICKETS $10 ON THE DOOR

Lit Fuse Records presents the release party for “Butterfly Man”, the debut album from up-and-coming Vancouver folk singer Aaron Nazrul. The songs on “Butterfly Man” were mostly written during a recent motorcycle trip around Southeast Asia. In Aaron’s words, “The people were so good to me; I just felt like the world was one family. My music is one way that I can help people out in times of trouble and spread love.”

Putting his words into action, Aaron has designated his album release event as a fundraiser for the victims of Cyclone Sidr, which left over 34,000 dead and 7 million homeless in Bangladesh last week. Aaron’s namesake and creative inspiration is Kazi Nazrul Islam, the “Rebel Poet of Bangladesh”. Half of all money from ticket sales will be donated to the Bangladeshi Red Crescent Society, providing medicine and other necessities to those in need.

Aaron will play a one and half hour set of tracks from his album, followed by his trademark covers of Latin classics, a showcase of the multiculturalism and multilingualism that defines the spirit of the “Butterfly Man”. Aaron’s five-man band will feature special guest Simon Kendall, the former Doug and Slugs keyboardist and Genie Award Winner who also produced most of the album tracks. The night will open with a special set from Vancouver Folk Festival favourite DJ Timothy Wisdom.

“Butterfly Man” is now available from the iTunes Music Store, with general release in retail stores December 4th. Review copies of the album are available on request.
